Fred Jones resigns as WSHS principal

By GEORGE MALEK

Washington Senior High School Principal Fred A. Jones has resigned his position.

Members of the Washington C.H. Board of Education met in special session Monday morning and accepted the resignation which had been submitted to the superintendent Friday.

The parting was apparently mutually agreeable. Jones had been contemplating a position in private business, and the board had been somewhat dissatisfied with his per-formance in the area of community

The board will meet Tuesday and Wednesday mornings to consider applications for the position. It appears the replacement will come from with the Washington C.H. school system, and an appointment could come as early as Friday

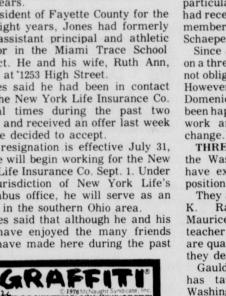

Jones was chosen to succeed Edwin M. Nestor as high school principal in 1972 when Nestor became school superintendent. He served as the high school's top administrator for the past four years

A resident of Fayette County for the past eight years, Jones had formerly been assistant principal and athletic director in the Miami Trace School District. He and his wife, Ruth Ann, reside at 1253 High Street.

Jones said he had been in contact with the New York Life Insurance Co. several times during the past two years, and received an offer last week that he decided to accept.

His resignation is effective July 31, and he will begin working for the New York Life Insurance Co. Sept. 1. Under the jurisdiction of New York Life's Columbus office, he will serve as an agent in the southern Ohio area.

Jones said that although he and his wife have enjoyed the many friends they have made here during the past eight years, they will very likely seek a home in a more convenient location. In his letter of resignation he made particular mention of the assistance he had received from former school board members James R. Wilson and Mark J.

Since Jones has one year remaining on a three-year contract, the board was not obligated to accept the resignation. However, board president Fred L. Domenico noted that the board had not been happy with Jones' public relations work and felt "it was time for a Gauldin joined the system in 1970 and has taught industrial arts at the Washington C.H. Middle School since Rankin became a social studies teacher in the system in 1965. He has served as assistant high school principal since 1972.

Pfeifer joined the Washington C.H. school system as head football coach and physical education teacher in 1956. He served as assistant high school principal from 1968 to 1972. He is currently assistant Washington C.H. middle School principal and a guidance counseior.

JOHN R. SKINNER, an 11-year member of the Washington Senior High School teaching staff, also submitted his resignation.

The police said Plummer, a 30-yearold Washington cab driver, reportedly had a criminal record, but was not involved in any previous intrusions on the White House grounds.

A police sergeant said Plummer's motive was unknown. After talking with Plummer's parents, the sergeant said, "He never indicated to them he had any qualms with the President. Plummer, a bachelor, was estranged from his parents, he added.

Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner, asked whether the incident would cause any security changes at the White House, replied, "We constantly review our security procedures and find no problems with the outer perimeter at this time.

The White House recently installed crash-proof gates costing $550,000. A man crashed into the old gates in a car on Christmas Day 1974, and in February 1973 an AWOL soldier landed a helicopter on the White House lawn amid a hail of bullets from guards. Last November an unarmed intruder came within a few feet of Susan Ford, the President's daughter, on the first of his three illicit entries onto the grounds.

But no previous incident resulted in death or serious injury. A dispatcher at the Red Top Cab Co.

in Arlington, Va., where Plummer worked, said, "He was really a nice guy. He was quiet.

Plummer was shot several hundred feet from the White House, where President Ford and his family were in their second floor quarters. It was not known whether Ford heard the shot, but White House spokesmen say he was informed of the incident.

An ambulance squad tried to revive Plummer with heart massage on the White. House lawn. He stopped breathing en route to George Washington Hospital, where efforts to revive him continued. He was pronounced dead at 11:05 p.m., about 90 minutes after the shooting.

A Secret Service official said, "The individual was observed earlier ... by EPS officers, but did not make any overt attempt at that time to arouse suspicion as to a possible penetration."

Plummer set off an alarm and was immediately detected" by Garland and another officer when he scaled the fence, and Garland approached him alone, the official said.

Garland, 25, will be placed on administrative leave pending a routine grand jury investigation, the police said. He became an officer last January in the EPS, the uniformed branch of the Secret Service.

Toddler slays friend with gun

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nine-year-old Marie Barcroft thought it was play when a 3-year-old threatened her and her father with a .357 magnum pistol. Then she watched in horror as the youngster turned and killed her 7-yearold friend.

"It was just the awfullest thing I ever saw," said the young South Baltimore girl after her friend's death Sunday.

"Jeffrey just stood there for a moment with a big hole in his stomach and blood all over the place. Then he fell over.

The victim, Jeffrey Krausch, was shot once in the chest from point-blank range, police said. He was pronounced dead at South Baltimore General Hospital shortly after 2 p.m.

Police would not reveal the name of the youngster who shot Jeffrey. The father of the 3-year-old is a security guard and neighbors said they had seen the gun in his car on previous occasions. But police said the 3-yearold and his 5-year-old brother took the gun from a kitchen table in a house

Uganda, Kenya may be near war

President Idi Amin fled from his headquarters in Kampala, Ugandan capital, when a group of angry troops approached and firing broke out Saturday night, a Nairobi newspaper reported today.

The Standard, in a dispatch attributed to its Kampala correspondent, said that at the outbreak of shooting, crowds watching a nearby soccer match fled while Amin "melted away into the cover of darkness.

Shortly after the disturbance, the report continued, Amin told the Ugandan Defense Council that he had decided to take a leave of absence outside the country, but the council overruled him.

There was no confirmation of the report, just as there has been no confirmation of previous reports in Nairobi newspapers of mutinies in the Ugandan army. But the persistence of such reports is fueling speculation in Nairobi that Amin's hold on power is Amin on Sunday accused Kenya of imposing an economic blockade that has reduced Uganda to a gasoline supply sufficient only to operate emergency vehicles for five days. He said he may be forced "to resort to desperate action.

Foreign Minister Munyua Waiyaki replied that Kenya will defend itself if attacked. "But we have no interest in fighting Uganda," he added.

Uganda normally gets its petroleum products from the Kenyan refinery at Mombasa. The Kenyans say they have stopped shipments to their landlocked neighbor because Amin owes $54 million for previous deliveries, and other supplies are not going through because the Kenyan truckdrivers are afraid of Amin's army.

The Kenyan foreign minister said no more Mombasa gas and oil will be delivered to Uganda until Amin pays what he owes, and all future deliveries must be paid for in cash.

'We are under no obligation to subsidize the Uganda economy," said his oil and gas from "wealthier countries." Presumably he meant Libya, with which Amin has close ties. Amin claims Uganda has paid for everything it has received.

Radio Uganda said Amin had sent messages to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and Secretary-General Eteki Mboumoua of the Organization of African Unity asking them to send factfinding missions to look into his

A U.N. spokesman in New York said that as far as he knew, no such request had been received.

Relations between Amin and the Kenyans have been strained for several months because of a claim by the Ugandan leader to Kenyan territory. Relations worsened seriously early this month when Amin accused the Kenyans of complicity in the Israeli commando raid July 4 that rescued 102 hijacked airline passengers and crew members from Uganda's Entebbe

Red space weapon fails 3rd testing

WASHINGTON Russians have suffered their third straight failure this year in testing a satellite-destroying system, U.S. intelligence sources report.

The latest failure occurred July 21 when a Russian Hunter satellite failed to stay in orbit, the sources say.

According to U.S. specialists, the Hunter satellite was sent up to try to destroy Russia's Cosmos 839 satellite which had been lofted into orbit 12 days earlier.

American analysts say they do not know what is causing Russia's apparent technical problems.

The Russian effort to develop an operational anti-satellite system dates back about 10 years and has proceeded in fits and starts.

There were only five successful launchings out of more than 20 attempts before testing halted in 1971. Soviet flight tests resumed in February and all three attempts since then have been flops, U.S. intelligence sources

Equipped with five main rocket engines for making orbital adjustments and maneuvering, the interceptor is believed capable of closing in on its target at the rate of 1,300 feet per second. Experts say it can come within 100 feet or less of the target satellite before exploding on radio command from the ground. Intercepts have been crime control, clean air and postal finances on the agenda, Senators face a heavy schedule this week in an effort to finish business and head out for some political campaigning.

The major items scheduled for action in the House include a mine safety bill and a measure to require government agencies to open their meetings to the public.

The Senate worked two days last week on a bill extending the life of the Enforcement Assistance Administration for another five years. The leadership had hoped to finish the measure on Friday but failed.

The bill authorizes the LEAA to spend $5.3 billion over the next five years to help communities fight crime.

During debate, the agency came der sharp criticism for failure to stem rising crime rates despite the expenditure of $4 billion since it was created in 1969.

Next on the Senate agenda are amendments to the Clean Air Act. The most controversial would give automakers two more years to meet stricter auto emission standards. The new deadline would be Jan. 1, 1979.

The postal bill would create a commission to study problems in the postal service. The commission, with six members appointed by Congress and four by the President, would report

Until the commission completes its work, the postal service would be prohibited from reducing services or raising rates. But the bill would increase the federal subsidy by $1 billion. The government already finances $1.5 billion of the cost of running the U.S.

The Senate also is expected to continue debate this week on amendments to a major tax bill that would extend anti-recession tax cuts. Last week, the Senate approved amendments that virtually do away with tax breaks for sick pay and occasional business use of homes

The mine safety bill scheduled for action in the House on Tuesday would transfer responsibility for mine safety from the Interior Department to the Department of Labor under a new assistant secretary of labor for mine safety and health.

The bill also would require that underground mines be inspected four times a year and surface mines twice a

The public meetings bill would require that sessions of multimember federal agencies be opened to the public. It would apply to about 50 agencies, including the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission.

Mississippi delegates remain uncommitted

By The Associated Press

Mississippi's 30 Republican delegatevotes could have put President Ford within a political inch of the GOP nomination, but the delegation voted to stay uncommitted until the convention. So the Republican presidential contenders keep scrambling for delegates while the Democratic ticket starts writing its policy proposals.

The Mississippi delegates, the only full state delegation still unaligned either with Ford or challenger Ronald Reagan, also reaffirmed on Sunday an agreement to vote as a bloc.

But they gave no clear sign which candidate will win their votes. Both camps lobbied fiercely and both claimed strong support.

Ford has 1,096 delegates and Reagan 1,024, according to a survey by The Associated Press. The winner needs 1,130 and there are 138 delegates still uncommitted. Both candidates claim enough votes now to win the nomination.

Reagan announced Sunday that he would make "a major campaign statement" today. There were no details but one aide said it would be "a positive statement" for the campaign.

As the Mississippi delegates met, Jimmy Carter and running mate Walter F. Mondale prepared for a week-long session in Plains, Ga. with Democratic economic and foreign policy advisers. Reagan spent Sunday taping television interviews and Ford was on the golf course as their aides lobbied for support in Mississippi. The White House announced that Ford would meet with the Maryland delegation at a White House reception

today and had invited Pennsylvania's 103 delegates for a similar session on Thursday committed to Ford and most of the Pennsylvania delegates support the President, but White House press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford isn't taking any chances.

In other weekend developments: -Carter told Time magazine in an interview published Sunday that his major problem remained recognition. 'My major vulnerability is that people still don't know who I am or what I stand for on specific issues."

-Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., saying voters wouldn't be fooled by Carter's 'messianic smile," predicted Ford will win both his party's nomination and the general election next November. Tower also praised former Texas Gov. John Connally as an excellent choice for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket.

All 43 Maryland delegates are survival of American satellites. The United States has not tried to develop its own satellite-killing vulnerability." He said U.S. scientists are working on ways of assuring the weapons systems since the 1960s.

The Fayette County Agricultural Society (fair board) members seemed satisfied with the smooth flow of activities and crowds during the opening night of the fair. Also they added the audience seemed very receptive to the Preble County Swingers show, contemporary singers from Eaton, Ohio.

This year, fairgoers were treated to their first glimpse of the Mahan Building's new look. The expansion project for the building cost over $24,000 and includes a new roof, a colonial style porch, and a new air conditioning system.

However, anyone who has been to a Fayette County Fair knows that rain just can't seem to stay away. A threeyear string of dry fairs is almost unheard of, but the weatherman is doing his part to preserve the streak as rain is not mentioned in any early Skinner has accepted a position at the St. Louis Priori School in St. Louis, Mo. It is a selective private boys high school which is predominately Roman Catholic.

Although Skinner was unavailable for comment Monday morning, his wife said he is excited about the academic atmosphere in St. Louis. She said almost all students accepted at the school eventually graduate from college.

Classes average about 10 students each and individualized instruction is stressed. She said most junior and senior classes are actually working on college-level material.

The 150-acre campus has a wealth of instructional facilities which are not available in public schools, Mrs. Skinner added.

Her husband will teach mathematics and will serve as baseball, swimming and assistant football coach. She said each of the 300 boys enrolled annually at Priori is required to participate in at least one sport to help the student obtain a well-rounded background.

A native of Washington C.H., Mrs. (Paula Bowers) Skinner is somewhat hesitant to leave her home town, but feels the opportunities for her husband are too great to overlook.

They and their three children are in the process of obtaining a home in the St. Louis area.

Skinner initiated the freshman football program here in 1965 and served as coach for nine years. He has also served as freshman basketball coach, reserve basketball coach and track coach.

He taught life science (biology) at the Middle School for nine years, and has taught chemistry, physics and physical science at Washington Senior High School for the past two years.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose more than a point in the early going, and gainers took a moderate lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As the market opened the First National Bank of Chicago announced it was lowering its prime lending rate from 71/4 to 7 per cent, effective Tuesday. Today's early prices included Braniff

International, down 1/8 at 125/8; General Foods, off 1/8 at 303/4; Williams Cos., ahead 1/8 at 235/8, and Philips Industries, up 1/8 at 77/8 On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped .17 to 990.91 to finish the week with a net drop of 2.30 points. Advances outnumbered declines by about a 4-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index was up .08 at 55.63. Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.87 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .08 to 104.65.

AP Television Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) George Carlin has this kind of mind. "Ever noticed," he asks, "there aren't many guys in China named Rusty?" A short pause. "Guess the name never caught on over there ...

In September, the 39-year-old comic starts a 13-week gig on CBS' "Tony Orlando and Dawn," doing a fiveminute monologue each week. The onehour variety series appears in "family viewing" time.

Those who've only seen Carlin in concert, discussing such things as dope, bodily functions and how dirty words lose shock value, might consider his coming job coronary time for the CBS censor

No way. For one thing, the show is taped and tape can be edited. For another, Carlin is a veteran guest performer on TV. He knows discretion is the better part of a return engagement. He's a realist

"I've always existed within the framework of television because I have an identity outside it as well," he said, referring to the Carlin who performs live in concert halls and on college

"So when I do TV, I know they have ground rules, I know there are only

He said he suspects CBS will tell him if he's out of line, "but I don't have a lot of subjects I'll stress that'd cause any trouble." His coming TV topics, he said, include time, age, kids and words, particularly words and how people bend them out of shape.

He cited one example, the phrase "nonstop flight." "I don't want to take any of those nonstop flights," he said worriedly. "Get me one that stops at the end of the flight.

Carlin, who started in comedy doing gags for pals on New York's West Side, used to be what's called a cuff-link comic, working top night clubs, doing safe, noncontroversial routines for big

He wore a suit and tie then. In 1970, when the nation seethed with youthful protest over the Vietnam war and lesser causes, he began casing his largely older, middle-class audience and pondered.

He concluded they weren't for him. He started doing stuff that then was a no-no for top night clubs — drugs, race, Vietnam. He deliberately antagonized patrons, burned his bridges and headed Funded totally through the treasury of the 12 auxiliary sheriff's deputies of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, a new, custom-made, emergency command post and mobile office trailer has become a new feature of the department.

trailer, measuring proximately 15 feet in length, contains complete communications network allowing sheriff's deputies to maintain an operations center anywhere and at any time in the county, according to Chief Deputy Robert McArthur.

McArthur said that the unit, which cost approximately $3,300, will greatly facilitate communications for the department in times of disaster, public events, and crowd control during traffic and other types of accidents.

The trailer has the potential to allow its occupants to maintain command operations for up to days at a time, McArthur stated. He noted that if a disaster, such as the tornado that ravaged Xenia a few years ago, should occur in Fayette County, the sheriff's department would be well prepared for the situation.

In addition to the communications network in the trailer, the unit is electrically self-contained. Power for the mobile post may be obtained from nearby electrical outlets, or be generated from batteries within.

The trailer also contains toilet facilities and a conference room that may be converted into sleeping quarters for at least three sheriff's deputies

The trailer will be parked on the Fayette County Fairgrounds commencing Saturday, and sheriff's deputies will maintain operations from

Buckeye beef congress slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - All beef organizations currently active in Ohio are expected to have representatives at the Jan. 27-29 Buckeye Beef Congress. Instead of each organization holding separate annual meetings, all will meet at the same time, taking up a wide variety of new information and ideas about the beef producing business.

Each of the organizations will design its own program and conduct its own meeting at the time given it. Meanwhile, speakers will address the entire group and there will be a trade show displaying trends in feed, equipment

The meeting is cosponsored by the beef cattle organizations and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Dwaine Demmitt of Troy is chairman of the congress committee.

'Softly and safely' on Mars in the long perspective of history, Viking I's landing on Mars may in some respects overshadow the U.S. presidential election and the war in Lebanon and other events. For as the spidery lander touched down -"softly and safely," a spokesman at the control center said - man had reached an especially notable landmark in his exploration of the universe which lies beyond his own little planet

There have been previous landings on Mars — and on Venus, too — by Soviet spacecraft. In most cases the vehicles either crashed or were somehow crippled so that they dispatched little or no data. The Russians' Venera 9 and 10 did send dim photographs of the Venusian surface last fall.

The Viking enterprise is of a different order of magnitude, both in concept and in accomplishment. Already it has provided us with a magnificant photographic record of the Martian surface as seen from orbit, and a sequence of closeups some at snapshot distance - that tell much about what at least one small bit of the red planet is like. If that were the whole of it, the Viking mission would be a success.

That is, in fact, only the beginning The crux of the twin Vikings' assignment is to test the Martian soil and atmosphere for indications of past or present life. In a few days the first test results will be known.

If the results are negative — if the tests reveal no hint that life forms of any kind exist or did exist on Mars the search will go on. Suppose though, the Vikings I's sophisticated mini-laboratory discovers clear evidence that there is or was life on Mars, even microorganisms of some kind. This would be the first positive reply to a fundamental question which has occupied human minds for centuries: Is there life elsewhere in the universe?

The Viking I lander sank to a lowlying Martian plain on the seventh anniversary of the day when the U.S. astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. became the first men to set foot on the moon. Not many years hence, as history goes, will walk on Mars. The brilliantly executed Viking mission is among the most significant steps so far in the greatest and most sustained adventure yet undertaken by mankind.

blow and the candidate will be buffeted from side to side so that only a cool head and careful seamanship will keep the Carter ship on course.

It has begun already, with Ronald Reagan assailing the Democratic nominee, without naming him, for fuzzy rhetoric. This is surely the pot calling the kettle black.

The greatest contradiction, and it is surely a masterpiece of absurdity, comes from the last holdout. Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr. of California berated Carter in the last primaries for failing to come down on the issues. This may have been frustration, since the pros, including Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss, were convinced that if Brown had entered the race 90 days earlier he would in all probability have been the nominee.

But the joke is that Brown.., in his campaign in 1974, was a model of the Artful Dodger. The campaign he waged, steering as far as possible from controversial subjects, has now been analyzed by the California Center for Research and Education in Government. And Mary Ellen Leary, a long-time reporter covering California politics, is about to bring out a book giving the results of the lengthy study.

"If there was a strategy in the campaign," one of Brown's top campaign aides said later, "it was to try to keep out of trouble and not get involved with issues like the death penalty or victimless crimes marijuana. . . We were very careful.

"The issues we picked were obscure and boring and dull. . The press coverage never bothered us. It was as adequate as we wanted it to be. . . The duller the race the better. We wanted this dull, dull campaign. I think we succeeded.

In agreeing to debate with his able Republican Houston opponent, Flournoy, Brown's staff put such inhibiting rules around the terms of the debate, as to how much and when they could be telecast, that they had little significance. The same strategy of dull it, but the new avenue could be a better understatement had applied during the Democratic primary when Brown was opposed by men with long political experience, including the highly articulate Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco.

Would such a campaign of calculated understatement work in a national election? A great deal would depend, of course, on the opponent. Ronald Reagan as the Republican nominee could be expected to expand his denunciation of Carter as no more than an indulgent friend of a spendthrift Democratic congress. President Ford as the vetoingest President ever might also take this line.

A little recent history is in order, particularly in light of the comment of a wise Republican observer who pointed out that this is not so much a Ford Administration as the end of the Nixon administration. And Richard Nixon in 1972 walked the line of television showmanship, confining his talk of issues to glittering generalities.

It was as carefully orchestrated as a Hollywood extravaganza. Nixonettes, appropriately costumed in red, white and blue, were drilled like the Rockettes to come on stage at the correct time. The climax was a massive shower of balloons released as the candidate reached his peroration before a packed audience bound to respond with wild cheers.

Let it be quickly added that Nixon had in George McGovern an ideal opponent. The Democratic candidate felt called upon to declare himself on every issue from abortion to a proposed limit on the amount of inherited wealth any individual could receive. Beginning with the fiasco over the vice presidency, his vulnerability increased by a geometric ratio every time he opened his mouth.

Between the two poles of four years ago, Carter will have to do some careful calculation. Getting out the vote, and what vote to concentrate on, will be an important consideration.

Congressional estimates that in the 30 primaries only 43 per cent of the electorate went to the

One of the startling facts about the outcome in 1972 was that while Nixon won in a landslide with a single state. Massachusetts, for McGovern, only 34 per cent of eligible voters cast their ballots for the victory. This is a grim commentary on the indifference of most Americans as well, perhaps, as evidence of a deep skepticism that anyone in the office of chief executive can really direct the course of events.

'Sunset bills' eyed by state legislature

By TOM DIEMER Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The sun would set on state government agencies that could not prove their worth under legislation pending in the General Assembly.

Several "sunset bills" have been introduced, but Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, has been actively promoting his plan to set up an agency abolition panel to review the bureaucracy every two years.

"Since the committee would make its reports along with the budget hearings, agencies that are totally ineffective could by eliminated by budget cuts," Freeman said. "The governor would have veto power if he felt the cuts were unwarranted or approve if he felt they were warranted.

Freeman, a first-term senator who successfully sponsored Ohio's open meetings or "sunshine law," said his bill would provide the legislature with a tool to measure agency effectiveness. State departments called in to

His bill does not actually provide for abolishment of the bureaucracy, but he expects it will be dovetailed with legislation similar to a Colorado law, when the legislature convenes next

The bill has been referred to the Senate Ways and Means Committee. But an aide to the Stark County lawmaker conceded that passage of a major measure like Freeman's was unlikely during the infrequent sessions planned for the remainder of 1976.

"The State of Colorado," said Freeman, "recently passed and implemented a bill which limits the life of each of Colorado's 43 boards and commissions in the Department of Regulatory Agencies to six years."

That is the type of formula he expects will be joined with his proposed 12member legislative review committee

"Legislators have let much of their constitutional authority slip through their grasp and into the executive branch of government," he said.

Dear

Should Children

Know 'Real Parents?

DEAR ABBY: Many parents are disturbed because in some states it is now possible for adult adopted children to "unseal" their records and find out who their biological parents are.

This is an answer to my prayers because somewhere in the world is a 21year-old girl I gave up for adoption because I was an unwed mother who wanted my child to have a better life than I could give her at the time.

I hope my daughter wants to know her "real" mother. I want her to know that I have no desire to replace the woman who raised her. I just want my daughter to accept me as her "other mother." I wonder if she realizes that I could have done what many other girls in my position have done had an abortion. Instead I chose to risk my own life in childbirth in order to give

Perhaps my daughter would like to meet me just to say, "thank you."
HER OTHER MOTHER

DEAR OTHER: Please read on for a letter from a mother who has been on both sides of the adoption table.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 17 I had a baby girl out of wedlock. I gave her up for adoption because her father couldn't marry me. (He was married.)

I became a registered nurse and subsequently married a very fine physician. We seemed unable to have children, so we adopted a baby girl. Within a year I gave birth to a baby girl. Two more children followed.

I have never forgotten the baby I gave away, but I hope with all my heart she does not seek me out. The woman who adopted her and raised her from infancy is the only mother she's ever known and is her "real" mother in every sense of the word. I know, because I am also the mother of an adopted child whom I love every bit as much as my biological children. If my adopted daughter were to seek out her biological mother, deep down I would be crushed. If my biclogical daughter were suddenly to locate me, I can see nothing but problems for her, me, my family and the parents who adopted her.

I realize that all adopted children are curious about their biological parents, but in satisfying their curiosity, they are bound to open up a lot of wounds and create many problems. I think one set of parents is enough for any child. What do you think, Abby? BOTH SIDES

Garden Club meets at Cedarhurst

The Town and Country Garden Club met Wednesday at the Craig Cottage at Cedarhurst for their annual picnic and swimming party.

Following the swimming hour, the hostesses, Mrs. Eli Craig and Mrs. Charles Duff, seated the group at one large table for a bountiful covered dish dinner. Mrs. Duff gave the invocation proceeding the meal.

Following dinner, a short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Dwight Duff. Reports were given by Mrs. John Stimpert and Mrs. Craig. Mrs. Stimpert submitted her resignation as secretary-treasurer of the club and it was accepted with great regret. The Stimpert family will be moving to Iowa in the near future and members present expressed their best wishes to them for their future.

The president read correspondence and reported on the plans made by the Garden Club Presidents' Council for a trip to Shakertown, Kentucky, September 28 and 29 and invited all interested members and guests to participate in this Tour. Reservations are to be made to Ms. Dwight Duff before August 15.

Fayette County will be serving as hostess county for the Regional Garden Club Meeting to be held in Mahan Hall on November 3. The Town and Country group will provide favors, have a sales table, and assist with registration of

Suggestions were made for the August dinner meeting, with the officers as hostesses, and the husbands as guests and the date was set for August 21, the place to be announced

The remainder of the evening was spend in visiting and reminiscing, as it was recalled that the group had been formed exactly 28 years before.

The Chocolate Story

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Chocolate is really out of this world. Matter of fact it has gone to the moon with astronauts in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration program. But the heavens are no boundary for chocolate. Chocolate was much in evidence at the Olympic Village in Montreal this July. In keeping with a pledge to the participants from 131 countries, that the daily menus "would include national favorites," Dorothy Shantz, executive dietitian for VS Services Ltd., Toronto, ARA Services' Canadian affiliate, has included a variety of chocolate items for the athletes.

Beverage choices at every meal included chocolate drink and cocoa; chocolate cake with fudge frosting and chocolate ice cream were standard dessert items. For those competing at sites away from the Village, there were box lunches with canned chocolate pudding as dessert. And to provide nourishing between-meal snacks, Miss Shantz has included both chocolate milk and chocolate milk shakes.

And it will be one of the food staples on the space shuttle. According to Dr. Malcolm Smith, chief of food nutrition at NASA's Lyndon B. Johnson Space chocolates in bite-size portions in Center in Houston, Texas, chocolate is used in space for the same reasons it's used on earth. It's a great tasting, pleasure food that everyone enjoys.

Specially packaged in containers made of aclar, polyethylene, and mylar, a high-melting-point chocolate was included in the space menus of 25 flights in the Apollo, Gemini, Soyuz and Skylab projects. Chocolate pudding was another popular dessert requested by the astronauts who started theri days with a nourishing, chocolate instant breakfast drink.

As Dr. Smith said: "It's extremely important that we give men something they like. Not because we want to cater to them, but because it's very im-

Put blame for slides on engineers

Who's responsible for the erosion and landslides along the Ohio River?

At an interim committee hearing on the subject Sunday, a couple of state officials pointed the finger of blame at the Army Corp of Engineers.

After all, they contended, it was the Corps' dam building that had raised the river pool level and undercut the river banks. But the Corps would have none

Joseph Jones, a Department of Highways engineer, said there are now 15 serious landslides along W.Va. 2, which runs parallel to the river from Huntington to Wheeling. He said they were the result of the Corps' locks and dams

"Prior to the pools being raised (because of the dams), there were a substantial number of slides along (W.Va.) Route 2," admitted Sen. Roy Rogerson, D-Marshall, "but the deterioration rates has increased. Those slides that did exist are sliding away at a faster rate and there are new

In defense, Col. Scott Smith, Huntington district engineer for the Corps, said, "it's our position that Route 2 is located in an area of major landslides severity . . . it's also our position the pool fluctuation is only one of a great number of variations that cause difficulty along Route 2.

Besides, Smith said, the Corps has neither the money nor the authority to do anything about slides affecting the highway or private property along the Ohio River

In reply to a question by Sen. J. Frank Deem, D-Pleasants, Jones said the owner would probably have to sue to recover damages.

Loophole in criminal code eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) Franklin County prosecutor is calling upon the state General Assembly to add six words to its new criminal code in order to close what he sees as a loophole that allows persons charged with murder and manslaughter an easier claim of self defense.

Prosecutor George C. Smith claims the omission of those six words from the new code, which became effective in January 1974, recently led to the state Supreme Court granting a new trial because the judge should not have told the jury that the defendant bore the burden of proving his claim of having acted in self defense. "Last week, the Ohio Supreme Court in the state versus Robinson construed the section of the new criminal code which had omitted the critical six words. This new decision ruled that defendants no longer have to prove selfdefense by a preponderance of the evidence. Now, all that is necessary is the introduction of 'evidence of a nature and quality sufficient to raise the issue," Smith said Saturday.

West Virginia solons hold session teacher pay raise and the removal of the sales tax on food were the major items on the agenda of the special legislative session which began today.

State lawmakers are expected to pass the teacher pay hike, but Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.'s proposal to remove the food sales tax will probably run into opposition.

The Republican governor has proposed the measure before, only to strong opposition from Democratic leaders.

When the lawmakers convened at 10 a.m., Moore was expected to quote them a state surplus of between $103 million and $107 million.

Moore said the teacher pay raise and other education items would amount to a $68 million package. It includes $30 million to give the 12,000 teachers a $1,200 a year increase and $18 million to give similar pay hikes to school service personnel.

House Speaker Lewis N. McManus, D-Raleigh, said the teachers will probably get a raise of about $1,000. They had increases of $500 and $700 last

The governor also wants the authority to sell $100 million more in road bonds, something the legislators refused to give him earlier this year. In addition, Moore wants a medical malpractice insurance plan and authority to use liquore profits for libraries.

Also sought is a bill to solve the problem of voters who are in polling places at the 7:30 p.m. closing time. A possible solution would be to let those in line at 7:30 p.m. vote. Also on the 71-item agenda Moore

-$14 million in federal revenue sharing funds to enlarge West Virginia University's atheltic facilities.

-$9 million for the Water Development Authority for local sewer projects. $6.6 millon for the state Board of Regents because the $1,000 pay raise used up salary funds.

-$3.7 million for community mental health programs and $1.7 million for mental retardation community programs.

The Mississippi governor's mansion at Jackson is a classic example of antebellum architecture. It was completed in 1839. It was spared when Union forces, under Gen. Sherman, burned most of Jackson during the Civil War.

At Southern State College

New administrative structure scheduled ministrative structure has been instituted at Southern State College to give added strength in fullfillment of the college's main mission of "serving post-secondary education needs for the citizens of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette and Highland counties," according to Dr. Lewis C. Miller, president.

Southern State College recently completed its first year of operation and during this period the north and south campuses were administered by a campus dean. Richard Pulliam, who had served as director of the Tri-County Academic Center for seven years, was dean of the south campus at Macon and Dr. Vivian Franz, was dean of the north campus at Wilmington.

To insure that the new college grows as one institution so that all residents in the five county area would be served as

Miller give attention to the development of an administrative structure that could promote the "one college" concept they desired.

After considerable study with persons, both within and outside the structure organization, a structure was recommended and adopted that identified the basic functions of the total college organization into three basic categories, student services, program and instruction and administrative services. Each of these categories is headed by a dean. Effective July 1, Pulliam became dean of student services, Ms. Franz, dean of program and instruction and Walter Knauff, dean of administrative ser-

Under this organizational structure, the deans will be in a position to concentrate their efforts on their specific area of assignment. This will help equally as possible, the board of insure, according to Dr. Miller, the trustees requested that President growth of a total college organization.

Big 5th inning keeps Legion squad in district tournament kept Washington C.H. Post 25 alive in the losers' bracket of the district American Legion baseball tournament Sunday night.

The seven-run outburst moved Post 25 into a Monday night contest with Bainbridge. The loser will drop from the double-elimination tournament. Two teams have already dropped from the district tourney as the favorites traveled over rocky roads in the annual meet. Hillsboro, a thirdplace finisher in the league, was the first team to drop from the tourney. Washington C.H., the league runner-up dropped a second-round contest to Chillicothe Post 757, a team the Court House squad had little difficulty beating during the regular season.

Washington C.H., which was originally slated to open tournament play Saturday night before rain forced a Sunday opening, got a five-hit pitching performance from Jack James, but was still unable to advance in the winners' bracket.

Post 757 scored one run in the second on two hits off James. The Post 25 righthander gave up just three more safeties, but still came out on the short end of a 5-1 decision.

Sunday brightens U.S. Olympic track outlook

MONTREAL (AP) - The East Germans are leading, the Americans are on the rebound and the Russians are busily denying rumors one of their premier athletes is among the missing at the XXI Olympic Games.

American forces, down but not out after one of its worst days in Olympic history, turned Dark Saturday into Sunny Sunday with a gritty comeback that was sparked by one of the most dramatic moments of the Games -Shirley Babashoff's last-gasp winning anchor leg in the women's final swimming event, the 400-meter freestyle relay.

the continued That victory, dominance of the men swimmers, and a couple of gold medal performances by track and field men - including Edwin Moses' world record run in the 400 hurdles - served as the highlights of the American revival that came just in the nick of time.

East Germany, however, won five of the eight men's rowing finals, got a medal in every race and swept past the troubled Russians into the gold medal lead with 26. They also have 17 silver and 10 bronze, a total of 53. Russia leads in total medals with a 24-24-22 gold-silver-bronze count. The United States, which won only 10 of the 104 distributed Friday and Saturday, collected 18 of 66 Sunday and has a 21-21-16 count.

And there was more trouble for the Russians, who will host the 1980 Games in Moscow. They've twice been accused of attempting to influence judges and had one of their modern pentathlon athletes kicked out for cheating. This time the problem involve unconfirmd reports that Valeriy Borzov, winner of both the 100 and 200 meter dashes in 1972, either has defected or been kid-

The Russians denied it. Mikhail Efimov, the Russian Olympic press attache, said Borzov was in the Village "and everything is okay with him.

A spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said they investigated and were assured the Russian sprinter "is in good hands."

The reports were fueled by Borzov's absence from the 200 trials and the sudden cancellation of a speaking engagement by his coach. The Soviet press attache said Borzov was withdrawn from the race because he had aggravated an old injury and added that he will compete in the 400-meter relay later this week.

The schedule today includes five track and field finals, with the Americans hoping for a one-two finish from Dave Roberts, Gainsville, Fla., pole vault. Medals also will be awarded in the men's 200-meter dash, 10,000 meters and javelin and the women's

The men's basketball team, apparently headed for another showdown with the Russians, plays Canada in a semifinal game. Russia plays Yugoslavia in the other. The winners meet for the gold medal which the Russians won in a controversial final in Munich in 1972. The American women could gain a silver against Czechoslovakia.

Also on the schedule are finals in fencing, cycling, judo and the men's platform diving.

Swimming ended last night. And it ended on a high note for the deeply frustrated American women who were facing their first gold medal shutout since 1952. It was averted by an almost superhuman performance by 19-yearold Shirley Babashoff, of Fountain Valley, Calif., and three of her team-

It was a last-gasp thing. Going into the last event, the Americans hadn't won. Miss Babashoff had collected three silver medals, including one in the exhausting 800 meters just an hour earlier. They were facing the broadshouldered East German women.

Fullback Boobie Clark led the rushers with 44 yards in eight carries, showing the form that propelled him to 988 yards in 1974.

The way we look at Boobie," Coach Bill Johnson said, "if he plays at 240 pounds, there's no reason he can't be one of the top running backs in pro football."

"Boobie looked very good," added quarterback Ken Anderson, whose 11for-14 day wasn't bad, either. "And a lot had to do with those five guys up front. I was very impressed with the first unit our second time out.'

Bench's bunt, legs aid Reds

ATLANTA (AP) - Johnny Bench contributed a two-run single in the Cincinnati Reds' 7-6 victory over the Atlanta Braves Sunday night but it was the big catcher's surprise bunt and baserunning that won it for the National League West Division leaders.

Bench's hustle earned righthander Gary Nolan his 100th career victory despite allowing 10 hits in seven innings.

"That doesn't happen every day," said Nolan of Bench's eighth-inning bunt single. "And he made a heck of a slide, too," scoring the winning run after moving to third on a single and tagging up on a foul pop to first base.

George Foster opened the inning by cracking his 20th home run off loser Bruce Dal Canton, 3-3, before Bench's bunt which came to rest on the third base foul line. Cesar Geronimo singled Bench to third.

Doug Flynn's pop foul fly was caught by Willie Montanez whose throw was cut off by Atlanta shortstop Darrel Chaney. The relay reached catcher Biff Pocoroba about the same time as Bench did but a hook slide got him there safely.

"On the bunt, he was on his own," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "The third base coach told him to go on the popup. John's a good baserunner. He's not fast, but he anticipates a lot of things.'

Foster, the major league runs batted in leader, also drove in another run to give him 81 for the season. Pete Rose also homered for the Reds.

Atlanta exploded for five runs and six hits off Nolan in the second inning with Jerry Royster's single knocking in two. Jim Wynn's 12th home run in the seventh put the Braves ahead 6-5 before the Reds' two-run eighth.

"I would have liked to win the 100th by more than 7-6," said Nolan who is 9-5 this season. "But when you win 100 in the National League you've got to be happy. I struggled the whole game.

'I figured Sparky would stay with me as early as it was, but if we hadn't gotten some runs, I'm sure I would

As it is, the Reds are now gone after taking three of the four games in the weekend series. Dodgers 1, Padres 0

Lee Lacy's double in the seventh inning drove in Bill Russell from second base and led Los Angeles over San Diego behind Doug Rau's six-

Astros 1, Giants 0

Greg Gross' sacrifice fly in the 10th inning scored Wilbur Howard as Houston blanked San Francisco behind rookie Mike McLaughlin's six-hitter.

Cardinals 4, Cubs 3 Don Kessinger contributed two key singles and second baseman Manny Trillo's two errors permitted St. Louis to score four unearned runs. Winning pitcher Lynn McGlothen, 9-9, restricted the Cubs to a double by loser Rich Reuschel, 9-8, until Chicago scored three runs in the eighth inning on five

Expos 2, Mets 1

Andre Thornton singled home Ellis Valentine from third base with one out in the ninth to give Montreal its victory. With the bases loaded, the Mets were playing a drawn-in outfield and Thornton lashed the ball over the head of center fielder Pepe Mangual for the winning run.

Angels 7, Rangers 3

Stanton's grand slam off Steve Foucault with two out in the 11th was his first home run of the season. It followed a leadoff single by Terry Humphrey and two-out intentional walks to Jerry Remy and Bobby Bonds after Humphrey moved around to third on a sacrifice and an infield out.

Yankees 6. Red Sox 5

Chambliss slammed reliever Tom House's only pitch into the bleachers to cap a comeback that began after Boston led 5-0 in the fifth inning. Elrod Hendricks opened the ninth with a pinch single off Tom Murphy and Mickey Rivers doubled. After Murphy retired Roy White and Thurman Munson with no advance, Zimmer signaled for left-hander House, only to have the strategy backfire on House's first and only pitch.

Brewers 3, Orioles 1

Bill Travers allowed three hits, one a solo homer by Paul Blair, as Milwaukee completed a four-game weekend sweep of the Orioles. The Brewers scored twice in the second inning on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Dave Pagan following three consecutive walks and Tim Johnson's twoout single off Rudy May.

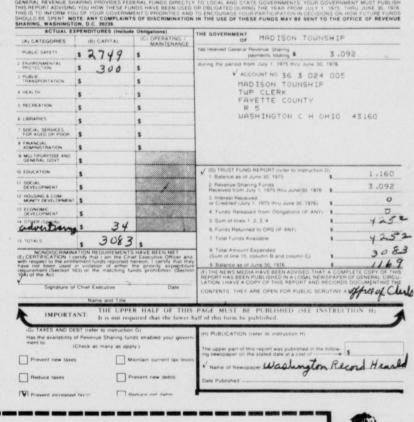

Tigers 9-5, Indians 1-4

Pedro Garcia's two-run triple turned out to be the game-winning hit as Detroit piled up a five-run lead and held on to win the nightcap behind a 17-hit attack. In the opener, John Wockenfuss drove in two runs with a homer and single, Aurelio Rodriguez added a tworun single and Garcia slammed a tworun homer.

Twins 13-4, White Sox 8-7

Pinch hitter Lamar Johnson's threerun homer in the seventh inning brought Chicago from behind in the nightcap and snapped the Twins' longest winning streak of the season at five games. Rod Carew's basesloaded pinch triple featured a five-run Minnesota rally in the sixth inning of the opener that offset five RBI by Chicago's Jorge Orta.

The bidding:

South North Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

Good defense is generally regarded as the most difficult part of the game, but in case you don't think so, here's a hand to test your ingenuity.

Let's assume you're East and partner leads the K-A-Q of diamonds, South ruffing the third one. Declarer plays a low trump to dummy's queen, which you win with the ace. What would you return?

You'd probably lead the jack of spades, but when the deal was played, East (Charles Coon, well-known Gloucester, Mass., star) returned the six of clubs! As a result, declarer went down one when he later took a spade finesse that lost.

Now let's suppose Coon had returned a spade instead of a club. In that case, declarer would make the contract with proper play.

He goes up with the ace of spades and plays three more rounds of trumps, finishing in his hand, to produce this position:

East

Immaterial

South

The seven of hearts lead now destroys West. He must discard a spade or a club, and in either case South wins the rest of the tricks with the aid of a club finesse

Most declarers find it difficult to recognize and execute a squeeze, but actually it's much more difficult for a defender to spot an upcoming squeeze and take the steps necessary to break it up. Certainly Coon's club return at trick five merits an accolade of some sort.

Speaking of Your Health... Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

European 'Liver Problems'

I travel a great deal for business. Twice in the past few years I became sick in France and in Italy. Both times I was told that the problem was my liver. When I returned to the States my doctor checked my liver and found it to be perfectly normal. I understand that my experience is not unusual. I never drink alcohol. - Mr. L.B.O., Ill.

Dear Mr. O.: For some strange reason, the liver is considered by many French people (including physicians) to be the central focus that determines all health and all illness of the body. It has become so much a part of their culture that even those physicians who have tried to depart from this fixed idea are still pressured by their patients in this liver fixation.

As a physician, traveling in France and Italy, I have been exposed to many experiences with patients who were also accused of having liver problems in addition to whatever else distressed them.

Fortunately, the supportive drugs used to control that vague ephemeral "liver problem" are not dangerous. And since most of the problems of travelers revolve around short-term digestive upsets, no harm can be done.

Travelers should be aware that the liver is often likely to be accused as the culprit that their temporary problem. It should not be a source of undue concern.

However, if an illness persists, specific tests known as "liver profile studies" can immediately determine the true condition of the liver.

Travelers to Europe must be prepared to accept the "liver preoccupation" without worrying about it.

This is just a matter of curiosity. A discussion occurred as to whether yellow fever and malaria still occur in the United States. - Mr. R.R., La. Dear Mr. R.:

Malaria is an infectious disease which is transmitted through the bite of the mosquito that harbors the parasite.

Only rarely is malaria contracted in the United States. It may happen in a southern, tropical climate, especially where mosquitoes are in overabundance in lakes, streams and swamps.

The diligence of our public health services is responsible for the remarkable accomplishments against malaria which, in other countries, continues to be a serious health problem. Yellow fever, transmitted by the bite from a female mosquito (aedes aegypti), is also rarely seen in the United States.

Education aid bill pushed by Sen. Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - An aid-toeducation bill could do more to prevent court-ordered busing than any other measure tried so far, the bill's sponsor, it will help by giving extra aid to magnet schools—those offering special course work designed to draw racially balanced attendance-and for equal site schools. That concept is designed to place new schools in areas where they will draw mixed enrollments.

"I think if we had the thing (his bill) for the last 10 years, it would have done a lot more to prevent court-ordered busing than anything that could have been done," Glenn said during a Columbus news conference.

He was passing through the capital on his way to Dayton for induction into the Aviation and Space Hall of Fame in Dayton.

Glenn said his bill would make parents want to send their children to the racially mixed schools aided by his

On other matters, Glenn said losing out in the Democratic vice presidential sweepstakes was not a "big disappointment," but he admitted a certain let down feeling after anticipating the possibility of being chosen by Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Glenn said he was honored enough by being in the running, considering some of those up for selection had 30 years in Washington compared to Glenn's freshman status.

Staying with politics, Glenn said he will support Howard Metzenbaum's candidacy for the Senate despite their heated primary campaign four years ago. Glenn also said he will be beating the bushes for Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minnesota, Carter's running mate. He said the extent of his campaigning for the pair would depend upon his Senate schedule.

The Senator also told his audience he will continue pushing for construction of the B-1 bomber which he sees as a viable alternative to the aging B-52 fleet.

No truce in Lebanon Chamoun says

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Former President Camille Chamoun said today that his Christian militia will not observe a cease-fire until the last two Moslem positions in East Beirut surrender.

Chamoun, who heads the National Liberal party and is interior minister in the defunct Lebanese government, said he would accept nothing less than the unconditional surrender of all Palestinian and leftist Lebanese Moslem fighters in the Nabaa slum quarter and the Tal Zaatar refugee Chamoun's Tigers militia and the Phalangist party's militia have been besiegng Tal Zaatar for more than a month and began attacking Nabaa last week. The slum quarter and the camp are a threat to communications between the Christian sector of Beirut and the Christian enclave to the northeast between Beirut and Tripoli.

Firing from Chamoun's Tigers torpedoed the 53rd ceasefire of the 15month-old Lebanese civil war Sunday. The truce was arranged by Arab League mediator Hassan Sabri Kholi.

The Tigers wounded seven men in a Sudanese unit of the Arab League peace force who tried to establish a position on the Christian side of the chief crossing between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut. The Sudanese pulled back to the Moslem side.

The battles for Nabaa and Tal Zaatar raged all night, and there was firing also along the no man's land between the two halves of Beirut. Security sources and hospitals reported more than 130 killed and 170 wounded during the night. More than 33,000 persons are estimated to have died in the war.

In 1880 Ohio had 24.5 million acres devoted to agriculture with 297,495 persons at work on 247,189 farms. The average value of cleared land per acre was $47.53, and the value of forest land was $41.37 per acre.

Ministers assist Grove City police

Rev. Robert Newhard and 14 of his colleagues regularly abandon their pulpits for a "night on the town."

They are looking for trouble, and they find it, cruising the streets of this Columbus suburb with police officers and armed with the "talent of the Lord.

The Rev. Newhard organized ministers in the city willing to work with the police, either riding in cruisers, counseling or lending support to victims of crime, and occasionally to officers themselves

"All of us in the program want to use the talent the Lord gave us in helping people," he said. "We all want to see our community be a better place.'

The Rev. Newhard, pastor of a Columbus Church of Christ, spends from 9:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. each Friday and Saturday patrolling the streets of the city with an officer.

When responding to a potentially dangerous situation, he and other ministers in the program do more than ride in the cruisers

"Sure, I go in with the officer. I don't have a uniform, which often triggers some people to put up a fight," he said. 'I go in and talk to the people, try to calm them down and show them how they're wrong.

Once a situation has cooled to a degree that the police are no longer

GROVE CITY, Ohio (AP) — The needed, the Rev. Newhard sometimes as we are the community," the Rev. Robert Newhard and 14 of his stays behind, talking at length with Newhard said. "Police have been much those involved.

"I try to direct them to the answer to all their problems, all their concerns. I think that answer is the Lord.

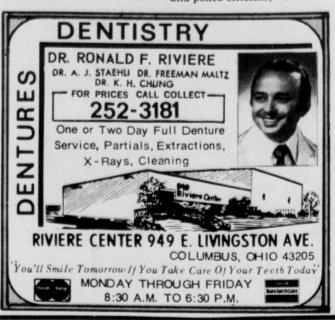

The volunteer chaplains are finding a number of officers also taking advantage of their services. "We're here to serve them as much maligned in recent years. They've got a rough job.' Three volunteer chaplains also are on call 24 hours a day in the event of a serious calamity. "This is an excellent program if it's given the support needed by the city and police officials," he said.
